Maintenance & Mastery
ABA Beyond Learning

A central illustration featuring a pink, stylized brain with wavy outlines. From the brain, several colorful flowers and buds emerge, including orange buds, a large yellow daisy-like flower, a white daisy, and several smaller red and orange flowers. The background behind the brain and flowers is a light, textured grey.

Once a skill is learned, it's not over—it needs to be maintained over time.

Maintenance sessions ensure that mastered skills don't fade.

Regular check-ins and practice keep learning solid and long-lasting.
